“Mind Over Matter”

DR RICHARD KOGAN

DR. RICHARD KOGAN - “THE MIND AND MUSIC OF CHOPIN” CAN MUSIC HEAL?

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 2019 Lucky us! Richard will be brilliantly lecturing and exquisitely performing at the Anschutz Campus on the evening of the 19th and has the energy and musical prowess to visit us that morning. Richard, a Julliard Graduate at the age of 18, went on to receive two degrees at Harvard. Being constantly torn between music and medicine, he ultimately found a way to combine his two beloved career choices. His ability to connect music and the brain is a phenomenal gift. Just ask his friend and colleague, Yo-Yo Ma! Chopin, whose works have been performed by the most famous world pianists, throughout time, was ill most of his life, is buried at Pere Lachaise, but,..... where is his heart?

He seems to do it all! The story of Clay’s grandfather is about a mission accomplished against all odds. DR. BRIANNE BETTCHER - “HEALTHY AGING BRAINS” – How Do We Stave Off Memory Decline?

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 2020 – We have all misplaced our keys, credit cards, had trouble remembering a name and forgotten an appointment. Is that normal? Dr. Bri Bettcher is a geriatric neuropsychologist at the RMADC at Anschutz. She is currently conducting research studies on who is greatest at risk: does the immune system affect one’s connection to developing Dementia and Alzheimer’s and are there protective factors that can slow or delay these maladies? Her goal, via research, is to come up with ways to engage the brain to be more creative and productive. Sounds like a good topic for all of us!

DR. ELLIOT ENGEL

DR. ELLIOT ENGEL “BRUSH UP YOUR SHAKESPEARE!”

TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 2020– You may be thinking of attending the DCPA’s “Improvised Shakespeare Theatre Company”, this October through March, 2020. Elliot would most-likely find it brilliant! There is no question that William Shakespeare is the greatest writer in our language, and Professor Engel would like it if there were no question that he is the greatest speaker at Town Hall. So in an attempt to make sure of that, he will provide us with a rollicking, radiant hour of background and breathtaking insights on Everything Shakespeare, including a look at the most famous query, “To be or not to be: that is the question” Now, whom do you think wrote this introduction?
